

ONLY STAYING AT HOME IS MORE SUSTAINABLE

We try our best, but it's impossible to organise a festival entirely climate neutral. Our catering is vegan, we use green energy, the artists drink from reusable water bottles and sleep in sustainable hotels, no disposable plastic is used, you can only get a paper copy of the festival schedule on request, you can have your own shirt printed at our merchandise stand, we encourage everyone to come by public transport or bicycle and, if possible, we have bands to play two slots so that they get more out of their trip. We try to contribute to a better world in as many ways as possible, so that ultimately the only even more sustainable option is staying at home watching your friend playing the ukelele on your couch.
