

SHARING REALLY IS CARING

Left of the Dial only sells full festival passes, because we really do want to enjoy the full festival with all of you, but in all honesty, it also makes our lives a whole lot easier. It is quite complicated to calculate how many day tickets you can still sell when half of the pass-partouts are gone. To make up for that indolence, we're right here to help you sharing your wristband if you can't be present all days. We'll either pass on your wristband to one of your friends, or we'll pass it on to an organisation that helps homeless young people. We might be a bit lazy, but we do care.
